

Chapter 10. Pronouns

Exercise 1. Fill in the blanks with suitable personal pronouns:

After Napoleon had become the emperor of France, _____ once went to his old school. There was a shop in front of the school run by an old woman. Napoleon went to the old woman and asked, "Do _____ remember a boy named Napoleon?"

"Yes," _____ replied. "_____ remember _____ very well. _____ was a helpful boy. _____ was honest and hardworking as well."

Napoleon said, "_____ used to buy eatables from _____. Does _____ owe _____ any money?"

"No, _____ owes _____ nothing as far as _____ remember," said the old woman.

Napoleon said, "_____ am the same Napoleon. _____ don't remember but _____ know once _____ bought something and promised to pay later. Unfortunately _____ could not come after that."

Then _____ took out a small purse from his pocket and gave _____ to _____. The purse was full of coins.

Exercise 2. Fill in the blanks with suitable pronouns:

1. Just start the machine. _____ will do the work and halt by _____.
2. I have been using this oven for a long time. _____ have no doubt that _____ is _____.
3. _____ is my seat. Why should _____ vacate _____?
4. I _____ conveyed this message to your father. How can _____ say _____ did not get _____?
5. Have you lost the watch _____ you got on your birthday?
6. _____ of these shoes would you like to buy?
7. _____ have told me your views but _____ am still confused. _____ is your final answer?

Exercise 3. Join these pairs of sentences using who, which, whose or whom:

1. This is the man. He gave us the idea of using solar energy.

2. Rupali sang a song. It brought tears into everyone's eyes.

3. He is an interior decorator. We can give him the job of renovating our house.

4. Here is a set of coloured pencils. I bought them for you.

5. These are the five boxers. They will represent India at the Olympics.

6. Dr Kalam became our President. His fame had spread far and wide.

7. The selfish giant scolded the children. They were playing in his garden.

8. The Buddha was thanked by Angulimal. The Buddha had taught him the importance of being good.

9. The landlord showed me a small house. It looked quite decent.

10. They decided to sell their car. It was frequently breaking down.
