

Chapter 19. Sentences: Simple, Compound and Complex

Exercise. Write S for simple sentences, Cd for compound sentences and Cx for complex sentences:

1. Although there was strong evidence against him, the judge believed him to be innocent.
2. In spite of there being strong evidence against him, the judge believed him to be innocent.
3. The evidence against him was very strong, still the judge believed him to be innocent.
4. Luckily, I got a connecting flight, or I would have missed the wedding.
5. Mr Verma, who had been praised for directing such a beautiful movie, could not attend the press meet.
6. What Karan said upset me greatly.
7. You are sure to succeed if you persevere long enough.
8. She was born at Indore, the biggest and most important city of Madhya Pradesh.
9. Our car broke down in the rain late at night on a remote and unfamiliar road.
10. The young man began to play the guitar, and from his hands came the music of a genius.
11. It is important to tell our friends that we love them.
12. When she was six years old, she resolved to learn swimming.
13. Do not open the door unless the visitors produce their identity card.
14. Either he is really innocent or he is a great actor.

15. Enclose a cheque with the order so that you get the book without delay.
16. Please tell me what I can do for you.
17. To be successful in life, it is not sufficient to have intelligence alone.
18. As soon as the Chairman entered the room, he sent for his secretary.
19. Instead of helping or encouraging her daughter, she scolded her for her carelessness.
20. All that you need to do is to perform your duty well.
21. We went to an old-age home and spent some time talking to the people there.
22. Three brave princes lived in a kingdom that was located at the foot of the hills.
23. Hearing a lot about his generosity, I approached him for help.
24. I wasn't getting clear signals, else I would have given you a call.
25. She was willing to accept the job but she had a small problem.
26. Several weeks passed without any sign of recovery, still she did not give up hope.
27. She stared into the space as if her mind was totally blank.
28. This is the man who came to my rescue.
29. A new link road that was recently opened to the public has eased the traffic situation in our colony.